

Lisa Paulson-Kopina

"My mother was the greatest influence in terms of interest and encouragement in art."

Growing up with a professional artist for your mother certainly rubbed off on Lisa.

Lisa pursued two majors in college- nursing and art education where sculpture and ceramics were her principal areas of interest. But life happens and parenting and nursing took up most of her time after graduation. Fast forward to being an empty nester and she joined a pottery program in Madison, Wisconsin and reawakened her passion for clay.

Lisa moved to Sun City West in 2016 and divides her time between Arizona and her cottage in Northern Wisconsin.

I affectionately call in, "Playing in the Mud!"
