

Carol Commins

Truly a Pottery Expert and SCW Legend

Carol Commins took her first ceramics class while getting her Master of Arts at Arizona State University. She fell in love with this incredible new medium—the feeling of the clay in her hands and how she could create functional pieces with her artistic soul. An expert in glazing and clay composition, Carol teaches classes at clay studios and clubs around the area, at Yavapai College and at her Prescott, AZ studio.

After retiring from teaching, she began a second career as a potter. She and her husband traveled the country for the next 10 years: By participating in juried art shows, fairs and supplying various galleries along the way, she found a way to make a living creating what she loved, pottery.

"In recent years, I have traveled extensively even leading a potter tour of New Zealand. I even taught pottery onboard cruise ships!"
